

Maryland Fire and Rescue Institute University of Maryland

Presents An Executive Development Seminar

“Ethical Leadership for Sustainable Organizational Culture”

- Featuring: Rodney Slaughter, MSOD
California Deputy State Fire Marshal
Cal Fire Division Chief (Ret)
Questions regarding this workshop can be directed to Info@RodneySlaughter.com
- Date: Thursday, November 21, 2019
- Time: 9:00 a.m. – 4:00 p.m.
- Location: Maryland Fire and Rescue Institute Headquarters
University of Maryland
4500 Campus Drive
College Park, MD 20742
- Presentation: This workshop will introduce fire service personnel, officers and managers to unique leadership perspectives by exploring ethical decision making processes in the context of organizational culture. This course provides a framework for sharpening leadership skills by exploring:
- 1) Ethics, principles, morals, values and culture;
 - 2) Your own ethical decision making process;
 - 3) Leadership models and how individual behavior is leveraged to reinforce an organizations culture; and lastly
 - 4) An organizational change intervention model that can then be replicated in their own agencies and organizations.
- Audience: This EDS is designed for Chief / Line / Administrative Officers, and other interested Emergency Services personnel.
- Registration: Pre-registration is open to all interested persons but will be limited to 100 people. Please register on the Maryland Fire and Rescue Institute home page <http://www.mfri.org/seminars>. Priority will be given and there is no fee for Maryland emergency services members or Maryland residents. Non-members/residents will be charged a $50 registration fee.